LATER.
OTTAWA, April 7, 6 P.M.

The Police have made an arrest in connection with the shooting of a woman named John Doyle, who was arrested on the charge of being a prostitute. The woman was found in a rooming house in the city of Chicago, and was found with a man named John Doyle, who was arrested on the charge of being a prostitute. He has shown, I can tell, remarkable ability, and literally refuses to accept until he has been examined. He was asked where and when he passed his time, and he refused to make any statement on the subject. Why, he knows best himself.

The whole boat from stern to stern has been repainted; new carpets laid, new furniture added, and no pains have been taken to make the boat thoroughly comfortable; in fact, the Rochester will rank among the best of the lake. The Rochester will ply between Oswego and Oswego, touching at Kingston and Interpore, and will be in the water on the 1st of May. Mr. Dwyer, with the old favorite, "Charlie," the stoker, and Mr. C. Mr. Sutherland thought it would be better the master stand on the floor and the mover stand on the floor. The resolution was put and carried by a large majority.

The Mayor said that a number of businessmen had upon him to urge that a stop be put to the extending credit to the mayor. He said that he promised he had made them, he submitted to the Council.

Mr. Diamond did not think the Council should take action in the matter; they were brought before the Police Magistrate by the delinquent parties.

The Chief of Police, being present, said, "The Council should pass persons before Mr. Diamond having their signs across the street, but he dismissed them, as he said he could not do anything under the authority of the present Committee."

A SINGULAR CASE.

The London Telegraph, March 27, says:—
A girl named Catharine Dawber, was tried at Liverpool a short time since, for the manslaughter of a female child, seven months old. The girl was neither more nor less than an idiot; yet, her imbecility notwithstanding, she was allowed to roam about the nursery, and was intrusted with the washing and dressing of the deceased child. The wretched simpleton went down to the cock-house and all bucket with boiling water. She brought the pail up to the infant ward, and plunged the poor little baby's body in it. This was her idea of washing the infant. It needed drying afterwards; and, although, it screamed dreadfully, the idiot scrubbed it with a rough towel, covering the skin to peel off. In a few days the baby died.

The girl was acquitted; but no recommendation was made by the jury that she should be consigned to an Asylum for idiots. At the admirable institution at Eastwood, she might make a tidy, handy lass. As it is, there are said to be many imbecile women in Wigan workhouse who are intrusted with the care of children under two years of age, so that we may expect to hear of more par-boiling cases shortly. The presiding judge strongly censured the workhouse authorities, and hinted somewhat plainly that it was they, and not the idiot girl, who should have been tried for the crime; but what do the workhouse authorities care? Perhaps the very next incident

A BALLOON DUEL.—The quarrel was between M. D. Grandpre and M. le Pique, and the combat came off at, or we should say above, Paris, in May, 1898. "Being both men of elevated minds they came to the conclusion that the only way to settle the matter was by a duel. They agreed to fight in balloons, and the result was a draw. The balloons were both shot down, and the combatants were killed. The only survivors were the two dogs, who were found floating in the sea. They were both dead, and the only thing left of the combatants were their hats, which were found floating in the sea. The hats were both shot down, and the combatants were killed. The only survivors were the two dogs, who were found floating in the sea. They were both dead, and the only thing left of the combatants were their hats, which were found floating in the sea.

loons; and in order to give time for their preparation, it was determined that the duel should take place on that month. Accordingly, on the 3rd of May, the parties met at a field adjoining the Tuilleries where their balloons were ready to receive them. Each attended by a second, ascended his car, loaded with blunderbusses, as pistols could not be expected to be efficient in their present situations. A great multitude attended, hearing of the balloons, but little dreaming of their purpose; the Parisians merely looked for the novelty of a balloon race. At nine o'clock the cords were cut, and the balloons ascended majestically amidst the shouts of the spectators.

The wind was moderate, blowing from the north-west, and they kept, as far as could be judged, within about eighty yards of each other. When they had mounted to the height of about nine hundred yard, M. le Figue fired his piece ineffectually; almost immediately afterwards the fire was returned by M. Gre-pre, and penetrated his adversary's ball on, the consequence of which was its rapid descent, and M. le Pique and his second were both dashed to pieces on a house top, over which the balloon fell. The victorious Grand-pré then mounted aloft in the grandest style, and descended safe with his second, about seven leagues from the spot of meeting.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM.—"There is a nice old farmer," says the Rural New Yorker, "who never had a paper in his house till he was 60 years of age. His father left him 200 acres

One spring the postmaster told him if he would subscribe for a good agricultural paper, read it carefully, and work according to instructions, he would warrant him to clear a thousand dollars that year. On these conditions he paid for the paper, read it, worked faithfully, and at the end of the year he figured up carefully and found he had cleared nine hundred and sixty dollars. He sued the rascally postmaster for the other forty, but by some dodge of the law the villain cheated him out of it. Ever since then the old gent has been down on postmasters and newspa-

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.
New York, April 15.—A terrible accident occurred on the Erie Railroad about 3 this morning, about 13 miles west of Port Jervis. Twenty-five or thirty persons are reported to be killed, and sixty or seventy wounded. Charles R. Loomis, of Buffalo, is among the killed. E. B. Phillips and Charles Gray, of the Michigan Southern R. R. were wounded. A portion of the train including one sleeping car, was thrown from the track by a mu-

KINDLY SYMPATHY.—Mr. J. Soward, Asst. Secretary of State at Washington, replies to the telegram of Consul General Averill, announcing the assassination of Mr. McGee, and says: "The intelligence of this horrible tragedy is the occasion of deep regret here, and it is earnestly hoped that the perpetrators of that shocking and hideous crime will be brought speedily to justice."

"The murder of D'Arny McGee shocks the whole community, and if it should be proven that the Feminas are in any way connected with this outrage, it will drive away the last vestige of any foolish sympathy which may have existed for them, not with the people, but only with a set of pestiferous demagogues.

THE LAST PHILANTHROPIC IDEA.—A Paris paper says that a new war weapon has been invented. It is called the "narcotic bomb," from the fact that when thrown among the enemy's army, instead of exploding and scattering death all around, it merely exhales an immense volume of narcotic fumes, which set

PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Ottawa, April 24.

ELECTION COMMITTEE.

Parliament was granted to the Verberne Election Committee to adjourn to the 6th of May, and the Argonaut Committee to 15th of May. The Hon. Mr. Macdonald was sworn in.

The report of the Committee of the Whole on the act to enable banks in any part of Canada to issue bank notes, was ordered to a third reading on Monday.

The report of the Committee of the Whole on the resolution respecting the Geological Survey was read, and a bill, founded thereon, introduced by Mr. Ross.

COURTESY.

The House went into Committee on the Act repealing the currency, which was reported without amendment.

On the motion for concurrence, Mr. Chalmers moved in amendment that the report be referred back, with the object of inserting a clause providing that English copper coin be made a legal tender to the amount of twenty cents, and taken at the rate of two cents per penny; also, that copper coins be made a legal tender to the amount of ten cents at the same rate.

CHARGES OF PUBLIC DEPARTMENTS.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the bill to regulate the Contingent Charges of the Public Departments, and establish a stationary office, Col. Gray in the chair.

After recess, the House went into Committee of the Whole on the bill to incorporate the Clifton Suspension Bridge Company, and after discussing the Contingencies Bill, which, after some further discussion of no general interest, was reported with amendments, and ordered to a third reading on Monday.

WINDING UP OF INCORPORATED COMPANIES.

Mr. Abbott moved the first reading of the Senate bill providing for the winding up of incorporated companies. The bill was read a second time, and ordered to a third reading on Thursday.

WATERS AND FISHERIES.

The adjourned debate on the bill for the organization of the Department of Marine and Fisheries was then resumed. Sir John A. Macdonald moved that the bill be read a second time.

It was reported with a few amendments of an unimportant character, read a second time, and ordered to a third reading on Monday.

On the second reading of the bill constituting the Department of Island Revenue, Mr. Hulton took exception to the measure, contending that the Department was utterly useless, and that its duties should be performed by the Departments of Customs and Excise.

Mr. Howland, who was severely audible in the galleries, was understood to reply that the duties of his Department were really of an important character; that it collected a very large revenue, and employed a large number of persons whose supervision involved a great deal of time and attention. It was important in many points of view that a strict check should be kept over the Departments within the province of the Island Revenue, and it was clearly his duty to do so.

Mr. Howland, who was severely audible in the galleries, was understood to reply that the duties of his Department were really of an important character; that it collected a very large revenue, and employed a large number of persons whose supervision involved a great deal of time and attention. It was important in many points of view that a strict check should be kept over the Departments within the province of the Island Revenue, and it was clearly his duty to do so.

Mr. Hulton took exception to the measure, contending that the Department was utterly useless, and that its duties should be performed by the Departments of Customs and Excise.

They passed away, while others suffered the most excruciating torments before they were released from their pain. Those burned to death in the cars may not have suffered the most. As railway travelling is a purely a mechanical proceeding, and absolute safety can be insured by sufficient precautions, it does seem imperative that the American people should sacrifice some little of what they falsely call "liberty" in the endeavor to put their railway lines

under such control as will prevent, as far as human agency, working in accordance with well known laws and conditions can prevent, the repetition of such Georgianlike incidents. The liberty of man, bar-baricade, out, disfigure and kill, creating orphanes and widows wholesale and at once,

is not that kind of liberty which the founders of the American constitution had in view.

Holloway's Worm Lozenges

ARE A CERTAIN AND SAFE REMEDY FOR WORMS IN CHILDREN AND ADULTS. ARE WELL KNOWN AND ESTEEMED IN ALL COUNTRIES. THEY ARE THE ONLY REMEDY TOO DEEPLY IMPRESSED upon the minds of the people to be ever forgotten. They are entirely safe, and free from all danger of interfering with the symptoms and true nature of the disease. They might be severe from the use of other remedies.

Worms are of various kinds, and cause very numerous symptoms and diseases which are not to be mistaken. They are the cause of offensive breath, greenish vomiting at the nose, cough, and a variety of other symptoms. They also cause a variety of other symptoms, such as slimy stool, and sometimes produce pain and distress. They are the cause of a variety of coughs, indigestion, low spirits, frightful dreams,
and a variety of other symptoms.

They are palatable and safe, and do not interfere with the symptoms of the disease.
They are the only remedy that can be entirely relied upon in the disease—thereby doing away with all danger of the disease.
